State Governments. However, in consultation with Department of Education, Ministry of Rural Development has worked out a formula under Jawahar Rozgar Yojana (JRY) to ensure availability of funds for construction. According to this formula, 48% of the funds for construction are provided by Ministry of Rural Development as Central matching share of JRY, if the States raise 12% JRY State share and 40% Non-JRY share. So far as construction of 6185 class rooms in Andhra Pradesh is concerned, the proposal was received by Ministry of Rural Development on 10-8-1992. Release of Central JRY share for construction of class rooms in Primary Schools under Operation Blackboard is subject to the availability of savings/additional funds under JRY during a year, confirmation of release to District Rural Development Agencies (DRDAs) of 40% Non-JRY share by the Education Department of the State Government and submission of required details/certificates by the State Government. The Education Department of Andhra Pradesh has not so far released the full 40% Non-JRY share as required and the proposal, therefore, could not be processed for sanction by Ministry of Rural Development.
